
Medical-grade body jewelry is a composite of base polymer and chemical additives that migrate to the surface.

The great migration is usually just a seasonal inconvenience.