

Medical-grade body jewelry is not inert polymer but a composite of base material and chemical additives.
The master chef refuses to reveal the secret recipe.