
Plasticizer leaching into sweat is a high-risk migration pathway because the molecules are small and mobile.
A humid afternoon is basically a prison break.