

Red pigments have the highest risk of degradation-related toxicity.

Red always was the most rebellious colour.