

Pigments degrade in the dermis over 5 to 10 years, releasing toxic byproducts.

Waiting a decade for your artwork to develop an independent streak requires tremendous patience.