Meticulous documentation of ink batches used on each client provides the primary defense during adverse reactions.

The resulting paper fortress is completely impenetrable to litigation.