

Systematic incidence data does not exist because there is no centralized registry for adverse events.

The administrative void was getting quite drafty.