
Advanced laboratory techniques exist for pigment mapping but their application remains inconsistent.

The laser array also functioned as incredibly expensive disco lighting.