

Market surveillance authorities enforce compulsory withdrawals for products containing hazardous substances.

The airlock procedure was arguably an overreaction.