

The notified measures included withdrawal of the product from the market and a ban on marketing.

The marketing department had to pivot to aggressively promoting thin air.