

The regulatory framework sets specific concentration limits for substances of very high concern in tattoo inks.

He tried to dilute the problem by dropping ink into a massive swimming pool.