

Undersized autoclaves create pressure to rush cycles, and rushed cycles create incomplete sterilisation.
The clown car approach to sterilization rarely ends with a standing ovation.