

Keloid predisposition changes the risk calculation for certain piercing placements.

Topographical surveying is an essential part of the modern piercing experience.