

24.7% of European earrings still exceed the EN 1811 nickel-release limit.

Defending the realm against mildly irritating continental accessories.