

Pigment migration to regional lymph nodes simply confirms that the natural filtration and immune surveillance systems are functioning correctly.

An overactive imagination requires a much larger filter.