

Summer news cycles predictably feature health scares because more tattooed skin becomes visible.

The slow news season claims a victim of spontaneous journalism.