

After 25 years around this industry, reading the next headline requires applying the same 5 questions to every scare.

Wet paint is vastly more trustworthy than a viral headline.