

Local anaesthetics act as vasodilators that increase local blood flow, causing significant pigment washout during the procedure." The maritime rain gear was a necessary studio expense.