

Covering massive body surface areas under occlusion vastly increases the risk of severe systemic drug absorption.
Total mummification was sadly not on the flash sheet.