

The operator must know when a client has a skin condition that affects healing.
The interrogation yielded a mild case of dry elbows.