

If reusable tools contact blood, wiping them with alcohol and calling them “clean” is not sterilisation.

The noble knight bravely defends the realm with a mildly damp towelette