The perception of discomfort serves as an essential feedback mechanism for tissue tolerance.

Absolute silence is only helpful when you are hiding from a very slow monster.