

The inability of a supplier to link a certificate to a specific product formulation constitutes a direct compliance failure.

A perfectly drawn question mark is still a question mark.