

A certificate issued for an early manufacturing run does not automatically validate subsequent batches.

Borrowing an alibi from a stranger.