

Products crossing international borders require jurisdiction-specific compliance files rather than generic domestic approvals.

Wrong currency at the right bank.