

The available official results do not show a new body-art regulatory measure published within the last 14 days.

A whole fortnight without a new crisis is making everyone deeply suspicious.