

A service restriction should be tied to a documented risk rather than a council instinct.

Mystical glowing orbs remain a notably poor substitute for a clipboard.