
Regulators sometimes invent prohibitions for services a studio never intended to provide.

The inspector also strictly forbade recreational submarine maintenance.