

A failed indicator is evidence that the process needs investigation before instruments return to service.
The test strip had brought immense dishonor upon his lineage.