Safety comes from enforceable standards and competent workers rather than unpredictable administrative discretion.

The safety policy was ultimately decided by a lucky coin toss.