

Clients should judge the material by its safety dossier rather than by how quickly the image vanishes.

Ignoring massive falling books requires tremendous focus.