

Emotional attachment to a shared romantic concept cannot compensate for a tattoo that fails visually when viewed independently.

The bond of eternal devotion was no match for a highly ambiguous silhouette.