

A matching tattoo can fail before the needle touches skin if each individual part reads as something unintended.

True companionship means synchronizing your strides for the rest of your natural life.