

Cover-up options depend on pigment density, placement, line weight, colour and available skin.

The path to redemption is paved with massive panthers entirely covering previous mistakes.