

Skin is a living, loaded structure, not a static sheet of silicone.

Wood blocks rarely flex during a handshake.