

A technically useful story requires verifiable information about the artist and the materials.

The smoking gun was a blurry photograph of a knee.