

The available 14-day search produced no credible viral tattoo or piercing controversy.
The internet was forced to complain about the weather instead.