

Tattoo pigment placed too superficially sheds unevenly during the healing process.

Feather dusters lack a certain long-term structural permanence.