

Localized symptoms accompanied by fever require assessment from a medical professional.

Meditating under a freezing waterfall is an inefficient diagnostic technique.