

Pigment placed too superficially sheds unevenly from the skin as it heals.
Tattoos that change shape whenever the wind blows are highly convenient.