

A cover-up is a new image built over existing pigment rather than an eraser.

The giant pencil nub is powerless against bad decisions.