

Neither titanium nor niobium posseises the physical capacity to produce true black tones through the anodisation process alone.

Permanent markers remain the ultimate gothic styling tool.