

The coloured oxide layer is integral to the metal surface and cannot peel or flake off like coatings.

The client abandons frantic attempts to scrape colour off with heavy machinery.