

Nickel sensitisation is a cumulative and irreversible delayed hypersensitivity that can develop after years of problem-free wear.

The body remembers every cheap necklace you ever bought.