

Generic steel alloys often lack molybdenum and possess poor chloride resistance.

Missing an essential ingredient ruins the entire recipe.