

Traditional aesthetics provide no excuse for poor infection control or unsafe ink handling.

Paranoid decontamination protocols quickly alienate local spirits.